Expect about 1,000 new faces in Shilo later this month as Reservists from across western Canada take part in Ex WESTERN DEFENDER 2011.

From Friday, April 29 through until Monday, May 9 Reservists from 38, 39 and 41 Canadian Brigade Group (CBG) will descend on CFB Shilo. That means for some 10 days the largest Reservist training exercise in western Canada will be taking place right in our backyard.

According to Capt Peter Fuerbringer, Asst PAO with 41 CBG in Calgary, Reservists can expect a full range of training possibilities.

"There will be artillery, armoured including some G-wagons and also infantry. There will also be a unit of U.S. National Guard there," Capt Fuerbringer notes.

The 38 CBG is made up of Reservists from Manitoba, Saskatchewan and northwestern Ontario. Meanwhile 39 CBG has full and part-time soldiers in British Columbia and 41 CBG is for Reservists from Alberta.

According to Lt Donna Riguidel, PAO 38 CBG, the exercise will also be good training for outside media. Because of federal election regulations, mainstream media will not be allowed on site. However, eight journalism students from Regina and Winnipeg will be embedded with the soldiers.

Components of Ex WESTERN DEFENDER 11 are to include:

- Reacting to direct fire,
- Treating and evacuating casualties,
- Occupying a hide/ harbour/asm area,
- Engaging targets with integral weapon systems,
- Breaching obstacles,
- Reacting to IED attacks,
- Executing battle procedure,
- Responding to ambush,
- Developing, ensuring OpSec, and
- Executing local defence.

Visit the RCA Museum, our own backyard treasure

By Bruce Peever

Canada's National Artillery Museum, better known to us as the RCA Museum, is a must see for all.

It's not hard to envision why the museum is so popular, with some 7,000 visitors passing through each year. Located off Horsham Road the museum is a Manitoba Star Attraction along with being a recipient of a Manitoba tourism innovator award and new product award for local tourism.

The museum contains some 20,000 square feet of exhibit space, with nearly that much again in storage space off site. As Curator Kathleen Christensen states, the museum covers all eras wherein Canadians were at war.

"Our exhibits go back to 1855, when Canada was first in control of its own military. We have a smooth bore gun from the War of 1812, but that was when we under British military control," she informs.

from the early cannons is a huge assortment of small arms. Dozens of pieces are showcased here, representing one of the largest small arms collections behind glass anywhere in Canada.

Christensen adds currently on lone from the RCMP is a muzzle loading nine-pound gun used to defeat the Metis at Batouche in 1885.

"It was the first time Canadians fought as a Canadian unit," the curator notes. "The year 1885 was the first time Canadians took responsibility for our own defence."

The Boer War starting in 1897 was the first occasion when Canadian troops fought on foreign land.

"That was when the military changed from a colonial force to a national force. However we were still serving under British command in 1897," she advises.

An extensive display commemorates Canada's involvement in the First World War. A 4.5 pound howitzer used at Vimy Ridge is showcased, along with a 60-pound medium gun fired at Passchendaele. Beside the units is a stylized painting of Canadian soldiers fighting at Vimy Ridge.

The curator goes on to say huge advances in military technology was made between the world wars. One of the biggest was recoil-less guns, with the shock emitted from firing absorbed in a separate chamber. Also added were metal shields "to help protect the gunners from shrapnel," the curator adds.

On display as well are anti aircraft guns used during the Battle of Britain in 1940. Christensen points out Canadians were able to remove tanks and guns from the Battle of Dunkirk when British units mostly left theirs on the beach. Many of these same Canadian anti-aircraft guns were then used in Britain's defence.

Also showcased as part of the Second World War display is the 25 pound field gun used extensively in Italy, France, Holland and Germany. Parked off to the side is a M7 self propelled howitzer known as 'the Priest.'

Further along are a few displays from Korea, "much of the equipment was the same from the Second World War" the curator notes, as well as guided missiles and smart bombs from the Cold War and Afghanistan.

A leaky roof over the Manitoba Gallery, which opened in 2010, has led to a temporary display inside the main exhibit hall.

"We are so lucky we have this space. We are fortunate that nothing was lost in that roof leak. Everything in that gallery was on blocks and walls were designed so that they could be moved," Christensen explains.

While the museum displays are impressive, Christensen notes it represents just five percent of total artifacts. Some pieces, such as soldiers' diaries from each war, are just too delicate to display.

The RCA Museum is open Monday to Friday from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Between Victoria Day and Labour Day, the museum is also open weekends over the same hours. The museum is wheelchair accessible.

For more info please call 765-3000 ext. 3570 or check out the RCA Museum website at www.rcamuseum.com.

Spring Flooding Hazards
Safety Tips for You and Your Family

Stay off ice and water
At this time of year, the ice covering Manitoba's lakes, rivers, ditches, culverts and large drains is melting or has melted. Stay off all waterways and never attempt to enter the water. Currents at this time of year are extremely strong and can easily pull you in and carry you away. If you live near water you should be especially careful to prevent children and pets from wandering onto the ice.

Stay away from heavy equipment
Earth-moving equipment is at work building or reinforcing dikes and Amphibex and ice-cutting machines are busy breaking up ice. Please keep your distance if you see these machines at work in your area. The operators are concentrating on their work and may not see you.

Check road conditions
Overland or flash flooding can happen very quickly and create unpredictable conditions along roads, especially those near ditches and creeks. Always stay off closed roads. If you do come across flooded roads and fast-moving water, do not attempt to drive or walk through the current. Stay in your car and call for help.

If you are travelling in parts of Manitoba that have experienced overland or flash flooding in the past, be sure to check road conditions on manitoba.ca (also available by mobile) or follow us on Twitter @MBGov.

Learn more

Letter to the Editor

Instructors needed for Virden Cadets

Dear Editor,

Our little Cadet Corps (XII Manitoba Dragoons, 2528 Royal Canadian Army Cadet Corps in Virden) offers many opportunities to youth involved in it. We are an alternative youth group and we do fun things while still instilling citizenship, leadership, and the need for fitness. We try to make our country better by preparing the future ... the YOUTH.

We are the last of the small rural Royal Canadian Army Cadet Corps left in Manitoba. All the others are in much larger centres with most being in Winnipeg.

We recently hosted 30 Royal Canadian Air Cadets from Stoney Creek, Ontario from March 15 to 19. It's called an Inter-Provincial Cadet Exchange (ICE). They left Virden with a better understanding of how we prairie people in rural Manitoba live and work. The program is offered through Cadets Canada.

Cadets meet in Virden on Tuesday evenings at 6:45 p.m. with the Cadets beginning at 7 p.m. Cadets need to be at least 12 and not older than 18 years.

We offer no registration fees, no uniform fees, no activity fees, and no insurance fees. Sounds like a good youth deal to me.

For officers in our little Cadet Corps, we have a school principal, a deputy school board chairperson, and a retired school teacher of 39 years. These are people who know about teens and want to help the community in which they live.

We are in need of three new Cadet Instructor Cadre Officers who would be members of the Canadian Forces Reserve. They need to be fit, have communication skills with teens, have the time to help out, be willing to go through background checks, an interview, a Canadian Forces medical, and be willing to take courses to upgrade themselves to CIC Standards — plus care about the youth they serve.

We offer this commitment to those from all professions, trades and careers.

A Cadet Corps always needs new blood to keep the program going forward.

Sincerely,

Kel Smith, CD, BA, BED

2PPCLI's C Coy made an impression during Ex KS

From Jan. 27 to March 3, C Company, 2nd Battalion Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry participated in a small unit exchange with the National Training Center (NTC) in Fort Irwin, California called Exercise KAPYONGSUE (Ex KS) which lasted a month.

This exchange was an opportunity for Americans to augment their training forces and for C Coy to conduct excellent training in a desert environment.

NTC's primary task is to prepare brigade groups to deploy overseas, a task it accomplishes every three weeks. C Coy acted as part of the training force under 1/11th Armoured Cavalry Regiment (11 ACR), whose role was to help train 1/25th Stryker brigade, named the Arctic Wolves, who were preparing to deploy to Afghanistan.

Led by Maj Scott MacGregor, C Coy was to act as insurgents fighting against 1/25th in order to replicate the worst possible day in Afghanistan. 9 Platoon was placed under the command of a U.S. Infantry Coy, while an American platoon was placed under the command of C Coy. This exchange ensured that both sides had a chance to learn each other's dismounted infantry coy tactics.

During the first week of operations, dubbed the stands week, 1/11 ACR with C Coy were given the task of attacking several 1/25th positions. The combined force attacked mountaintop coy defensive positions known as combat outposts (COPs). C Coy braved difficult mountain terrain and extensive wire obstacles to overrun as possible. During the patrol they had to deal with a mass casualty event, with actual American amputees acting as wounded soldiers. They performed extremely well with the scenario demonstrating the professionalism of the Canadian soldier. The exchange was well received by Americans who were extremely impressed with C Coy's performance over the exercise.

Whether it was talking to actors portraying Afghan villagers at left or under siege at bottom, C Coy played a big role in Ex KAPYONG SUE.

At an award ceremony following the completion of training, 11 ACR commander Col. Aguto expressed his deepest thanks, and parted with a standing invitation for Canadian infantry units to come down and participate at NTC at every opportunity.

It is the hope of both organizations, that the comradeship fostered by this exchange between Americans and Canadians will eventually create a yearly exchange between NTC and 2PPCLI.

the COPs manned by 1/25th. These positions were heavily defended; however C Coy was able to breach the wire under heavy fire and overrun the enemy at every turn.

On the second week of training 1/11 ACR conducted full spectrum operations preparation for 1/25th. This comprised of various training events, such as mass casualty incidents, dealing with the local population and improvised explosive devices (IEDs). It included C Coy defending a small village while acting as insurgents against an enemy Stryker battalion.

Although putting up a valiant struggle they were eventually overwhelmed by 1/25th who were assaulting the village.

7 Platoon acted as Afghan National Security Forces (ANSF) for the 1/25th, to better prepare the Americans for dealing with the ANSF overseas. The members of 7 Pl participated in various U.S. operations throughout the week supplementing their forces.

7 Pl also had an excellent opportunity to participate in an urban mounted patrol which was made to be as realistic

New museum receives green light in Brandon

By Bob Booth

Brandon General Museum and Archives has announced a location for its Brandon General Museum.

At a special ceremony held April 7 in the council chambers a lease was signed between Ben Wiebe Construction and the museum. The signing was completed by Ron Wiebe and Counsellor Jeff Harwood. It was attended by Mayor Shari Decter Hirst, city councillors, members of the museum board, and representatives from the press.

The new General Museum will be located on the ground floor of the old Manitoba Telephone Building at 119 - 9th Street. This building is not designated as a heritage building but it is definitely a historical building and is located in a historic part of Brandon.

Across the road is the heritage site of McKenzie seeds, to the north is the newly renovated Crystal Hotel, The Pub and The Newfie Cafe, and to the south is the ethnic watering hole called the Double Decker Pub and Restaurant.

The lease is effective May 1, 2011 and the General Museum will be open to the public by the summer, but while the museum board has to work out details for the first exhibit, the museum will be free of charge, taking bookings for tours immediately, donations, and selling memberships. For more information please contact Leanne Petrin, Coordinator of the Brandon General Museum and Archive at 729-2254 or email at bgmainfo@brandon.ca.

Brandon General Museum and Archive Inc. was formed as a committee by the City of Brandon in 2007.

In 2009, the group incorporated into a non-profit entity in order to act as a charity and issue tax receipts for donations and memberships ($25 annually).

The association is governed by a board, made up of three city councillors and nine community members. There is one employee, who is a coordinator for the museum.

Please visit the museum website at www.brandon.ca/bgma.

Boot Camp for your dog

Dog Obedience Classes is one of the best things you can do for your dog or puppy... and yourself. Obedience training doesn't solve all behaviour problems, but it is the foundation for solving just about any problem. The MFRC and PSP Recreation Department are offering a dog obedience course. The program will run for six weeks in May and June. The cost for the six week program is $60 per person.

In order to run this program we need 10 people, so sign up today and bring this fantastic opportunity to Shilo. Once registration is complete, we will work with you to find a day that works best for everyone.

SMHA ends season on high note

By Jim Barscello

Now that another successful hockey season has concluded the Shilo Minor Hockey Association (SMHA) is again looking at ways to build on success for the future.

Last season the group took several steps towards improving and growing minor hockey in Shilo; we started the season by inviting Hockey Manitoba's Chief Coach Mentor — Bob Caldwell. He spoke with our coaches, and assisted us with development plans for our hockey program.

Deanna Kowalchuk, a locally renowned Power Skating coach worked with our players on a weekly basis this fall to ensure our kids had the proper skating fundamentals and were well prepared for the season start. Art Pohl was the driving force behind our weekly hockey skills camp and 'Christmas Breakfast Club' that offered players of all levels more opportunities to work on their skills, in addition to team practices. Shilo's own Coach Mentor, Garry Reid of MFRC has been instrumental in the provision of development resources that the SMHA has taken advantage of.

We certainly have learned a few lessons from last year and are excited about the possibilities for next season. We look to continue with these initiatives, refining them and growing capabilities for the betterment of minor hockey in Shilo.

Unfortunately we are going to say good-bye to our current President, LCol Shane Schreiber with his posting this year. He has been key in guiding the executive through last season and has shaped the success of SMHA for years to come.

Many thanks to the Base Commander, PSP

staff and public servants for their wholehearted support of our initiatives this season and making hockey a part of our community.

SMH is having its Annual General Meeting on April 28 (7 - 9 p.m. Shilo Community Centre, multi-room 1) when we will renew/elect the new executive. This is an excellent time to step-up to volunteer and make a positive contribution to minor hockey by involving yourself in an area such as the executive, coaching or managing. First time volunteers and aspiring coaches are very welcome. We look to see you there.
