From the front

While he was born in southern Ontario, Lt Col Wright made it clear CFB Shilo was his home after serving here before. And while keeping his comments short, the incoming 2VP commander offered a big thank you to his predecessor.

"Under (Lt Col) Schreiber this battalion performed extremely well. Today I am happy to be coming home. This will be a tremendous challenge however I am looking forward to the next several years," Lt Col Wright states.

Col Lavoie noted 2PPCLI was special to him as it was under his command early in his career, and again five years later. He thanked Lt. Col Schreiber for his leadership directing 2PPCLI during international conflict and domestic relief efforts.

In his final message to his troops, Lt Col Schreiber thanked the officers and soldiers of Second Battalion.

He, along with Col Lavoie and Lt Col Wright, each paid tribute to the families of fallen soldiers noting, "Your sacrifice is an example not to be forgotten."

While he will be moving back to Alberta with his wife Kelly and three children, Lt Col Schreiber said he will be forever proud of serving in the Second Battalion.

Manitoba soldiers in the BC wilds with Ex WELL TASTY

By SLT Jessica MacDonald

Rangers from the 4th Canadian Ranger Patrol Group (4CRPG) participated in Exercise WELL TASTY 2011 in Chilcotin, BC, from June 9 to 12.

During the first part of the exercise, Rangers honed their shooting skills. They participated in several different types of ranges: .303 rifle, shotgun and familiarization training with the C7 rifle, M203 grenade launcher, and pyrotechnics.

"This exercise is unique because for the first time in recent years BC Det has deployed a complete sub-unit," says Captain Steven Parker, BC Detachment Commander for 4CRPG. "The efforts of 13 full-time staff and 19 soldiers from 39 Canadian Brigade Group were combined to provide quality training to Canadian Rangers representing 14 patrols within BC and one from Manitoba."

One unique element was the predator range. Using shotguns and .303s, Rangers walked through a section of bush in an extended line, shooting hidden targets as they appeared. This move and shoot technique provided practice in the event they have to protect themselves against wildlife.

Competition part of fun

The Rangers also participated in a two-day round robin competition. This part of the exercise focused on basic ranger skills such as First Aid, setting up tents, lighting stoves, rope tying, navigation, and setting up observation posts.

Rangers from the 100 Mile House patrol group had the best overall score at the end of the competition.

"I enjoyed the whole thing. It was a ball of fun," laughed Ern Heggglun, a Ranger from the Pouce Coupe.

4CRPG is made up of a diverse group of individuals. This exercise, the ages spanned from 19 to 75. Some of the participants have been Rangers for years and some have just recently joined.

"My general impression of the Rangers is that it seems like a truly good outfit," offers Jonathan Stelmacker, a newer Ranger from the Kitimat patrol group. "It's good training and it's good life skills."

4CRPG has Canadian Ranger patrols located in 40 remote, northern and coastal communities across Canada's four western provinces and is made up of over 950 Canadian Rangers. They provide a presence in sparsely settled northern, coastal and isolated areas of Canada which aren't covered by other elements of the military.

Sub Lieutenant Jessica MacDonald is Public Affairs Officer with Land Forces Western Area.

What's on the horizon? Protect yourself from severe weather.

Severe weather conditions often occur during Manitoba summers. Thunder, lightning, hail and even tornadoes can develop quickly and have the potential to be extremely dangerous.

That's why it's important for you to understand the risks created by severe summer weather and how you can protect yourself – weather or not.

Look for the signs

Hot and/or muggy days and warm nights indicate thunderstorms may be forming – so be prepared. Keep your eyes on the sky and watch for the possible development of storms.

Listen for the warnings

Environment Canada monitors the weather and issues severe weather warnings. Check your local television or radio station regularly during the summer to see if any severe weather is expected in your area. Purchasing a Weatheradio receiver would also give you 24-hour-a-day access to Environment Canada's weather watches and warnings.

Take shelter

When severe weather threatens, find shelter immediately. Do not follow storms in your car or attempt to take photographs. If you're indoors, take shelter in the basement. If there is no basement, find shelter in a small interior ground floor room away from windows. If you are in an office or apartment building, take shelter in an inner hallway or room, preferably in the basement. If you are caught outdoors, lie flat in a ditch or other low-lying area and cover your head.

Be prepared

Storms often strike quickly so it's important that you have a plan in place before severe weather hits.

Prepare a "72 Hour" emergency kit – Your kit should include food, clothing, blankets, medication, bottled water and first aid and tool kits, as well as flashlights and a battery-powered radio – with extra batteries for both. You should have enough supplies in your kit to last 72 hours.

Reduce the hazards on your property – Trim rotting or dead branches and cut down dead trees on your property. You should also check the drainage around your house to reduce the possibility of basement flooding. Secure everything that might be blown around or torn loose. Flying objects such as garbage cans and lawn furniture can injure people.

Letter to the Editor

Public servants play a major role in CF

Dear Editor,

Public service employees across the country celebrated our collective contributions to Canadian society during National Public Service Week (NPSW) June 12-18.

This year's theme — Be the Change! — highlighted how we are making innovations in the way the Public Service works for Canadians, and the small things that we all do to make our workplaces better. It also means renewing our commitment to demonstrating the values and ethics of the public sector.

As civilian employees at the Department of National Defence (DND) and its portfolio organizations, you are helping to achieve defence objectives and enabling CF personnel serving in domestic and international operations. Our men and women in uniform know they can count on their civilian colleagues to deliver the tools and support they need to get the job done. It is that confidence in one another that best exemplifies what it means to be a part of the Defence Team.

Working within a dynamic environment, we adapt to changing needs by working effectively and efficiently. You are helping to deliver the Canada First Defence Strategy and to provide services and programs that benefit all members of the Defence Team.

In the spirit of NPSW, let's all take the time to thank our colleagues and appreciate the exceptional work that exists here at DND and in our portfolio organizations.

On behalf of the entire Defence Team, we thank you for your hard work and dedication. Take pride in knowing that here at National Defence your work is more than just a job. It makes a difference in the lives of Canadians each and every day.

Sincerely,
 Robert Fonberg
 Deputy Minister, and
 General W.J. Natynczyk
 Chief of the Defence Staff

Helicopters helped 1RCHA battle floods near Portage

By Pte Oliver Powell

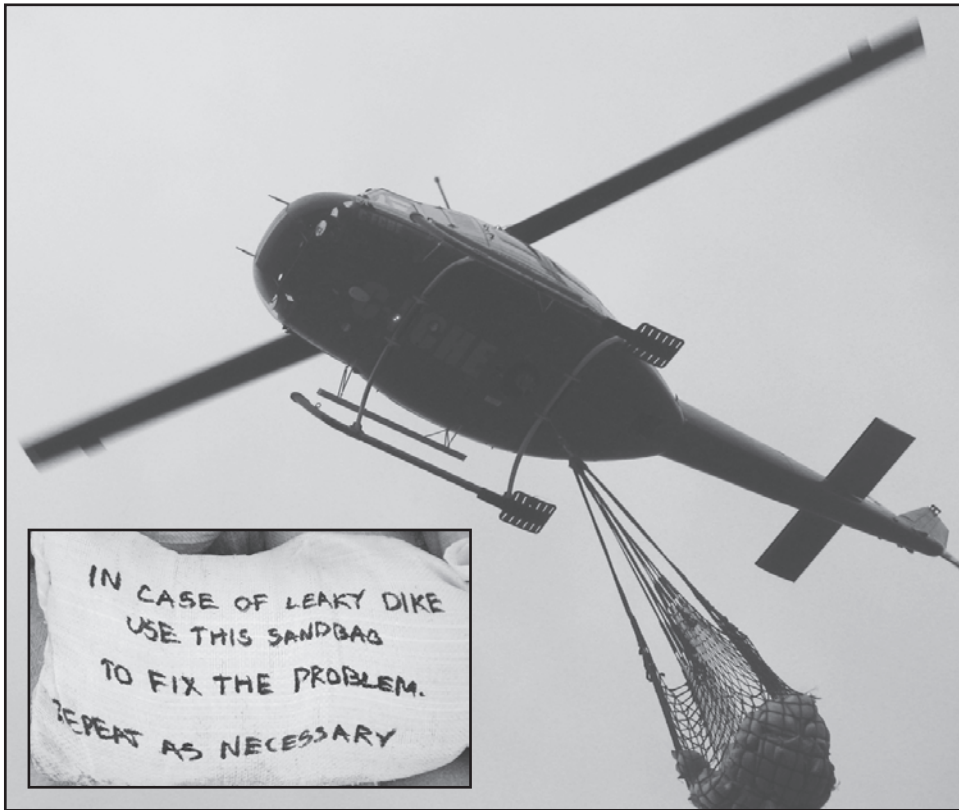

On Monday, May 9 members from the 1st Royal Canadian Horse Artillery (1RCHA) were called out to deploy alongside sandbags along the Assiniboine River.

Over the course of the following two weeks, soldiers were required to deploy sandbags at the rate of 7,000 bags an hour which were brought in by helicopter.

The days following that Monday were filled with muddy boots, sore backs and tired souls. As the air was filled with the roar of helicopter engines; an endless supply of sandbags were air lifted to the dikes.

Deploying sandbags by helicopter is no easy task. It's an intricate ballet in the sky that is only organized by someone who has a Landing Zone/Drop Zone Controller course under his or her belt. One person who can organize such an important part of the flood fighting operation is WO Waterfield from A Battery, 1RCHA.

"Safety is the biggest factor, understanding the best place for the 'copters to put the loads. We are bringing in 7,000-9,000 an hour with nine

Helicopters bringing in sandbags at a rate of 7,000 per hour were used by 1RCHA soldiers as they worked on dike stabilization along the Assiniboine River near Portage la Prairie. In the inset photo is some sage advice.

Photos by WO Janet Flynn

to 10 'copters," he states.

Bdr Smith from C Battery, 1RCHA, describes the experience of receiving sandbags by helicopter.

"It was pretty hectic — you would have to work pretty fast before the next load comes."

With only moments before the next helicopter arrived to deliver a new load, troops had to move fast to empty the previous load of approximately 50 sandbags.

From a soldier's perspective, working in adverse conditions was exhausting but worth it. It was comforting to know that the efforts of 400 soldiers collected from 1RCHA and 2PPCLI were appreciated by local residents. Many showed their gratitude by providing food and drink.

The Province of Manitoba required 2.9 million sandbags along the banks of the Assiniboine River to help suppress the rising water levels.

The last time 1RCHA deployed to Manitoba to fight the flood waters was back in 1997. Sgt Churchill from C Bty 1RCHA recounts his experience during the fight of the flood,

"Between last time and this experience time it was a 100 percent improvement. We had no air support and we had to make our own sandbags by hand," Sgt Churchill explains.

WO Fisk from C Bty 1RCHA has also recalls the flood of '97.

"Yes I'd say it was worse because of all the property damage. The Red River busted at a couple of dikes," WO Fisk said when asked if the '97 flood was worse than this year's.

He adds the dikes in 2011 are more easily assessable and trucks are used to deliver the sandbags.

With the flood waters receding, 1RCHA has returned to base. Troops however, remain on call to redeploy in case the need arises.

Gunner Oliver Powell is a member of C Battery, 1RCHA.

Farmers should decide the fate of the Canadian Wheat Board

Proposed federal government legislation would eliminate the Canadian Wheat Board's (CWB) single-desk marketing system. This farmer-owned agency allows prairie farmers to compete head-on with large international grain companies.

Let farmers decide

Eliminating the CWB's single desk would affect the entire industry – from grain handling, transportation and marketing to trade, risk management and farmer returns.

Farmers own the CWB. It returns every penny of profit to farmers.

Eliminating the CWB would rob farmers of these advantages. Forever. That's why farmers have always supported the CWB in the past. And why farmers should decide its future.

Review authority seeking your input

By Ryan Cane

The Honourable Patrick J. LeSage, retired Chief Justice of the Ontario Superior Court of Justice, has been appointed by the Minister of National Defence to conduct the second independent review of Statutes of Canada 1998, c. 35 (Bill C-25), and an independent review of Statutes of Canada 2008, c.29 (Bill C-60).

Bill C-25 requires the Minister of National Defence to conduct an independent review of the provisions and operation of the bill every five years, and to table a report of the review in Parliament. The review will only deal with the changes Bill C-25 made to the National Defence Act, not the entire Act. Bill C-25 made important amendments to the act concerning the military justice system, the Canadian Forces grievance process, and the military police complaints process.

As part of Defence's commitment to fairness and transparency, former Chief Justice LeSage (the 'Second Independent Review Authority') will have complete access to Department of National Defence (DND) employees, Canadian Forces (CF) members, members and staff of the Canadian Forces Grievance Board, the Military Police Complaints Commission and the Ombudsman for the DND and the CF, as well as to any information held by the DND or the CF relevant to the review.

The Second Independent Review Authority will be visiting selected CF bases across Canada to meet with individuals who have comments about subjects under review, and to receive feedback on how the changes made by Bill C-25 and Bill C-60 are functioning.

Individuals who have an interest in the military justice system, the CF grievance process or the military police complaints process, and who would like to provide comments to the Second Independent Review Authority, are encouraged to contact him, preferably in writing, by July 4, 2011. Persons making submissions should expect their submissions will be made public, although the Second

Independent Review Authority may, in his entire discretion, choose to receive certain submissions in confidence.

The Second Independent Review Authority may be contacted care of: Lynn Mahoney Gowlings, 1 First Canadian Place, Suite 1600 Toronto, Ontario, M5X 1G5. You can also call 416-862-4319 or email at lynn.mahoney@gowlings.com.

Charged with child porn

A soldier from ASU Shilo is facing child pornography charges following an RCMP investigation.

On May 16, the RCMP's Internet Child Exploitation Unit (ICE) searched a residence on Base and seized a personal computer and computer-related equipment. Following further investigation, 30-year-old Cpl Adam Bryan-Pulham was arrested on June 2 and charged with possession of child pornography and accessing child pornography.

Cpl Bryan-Pulham has since been released from police custody and is scheduled to appear in Brandon court in July.

The Base Commander took additional measures to restrict the member's movements on Base due to the nature of the charges against him and in accordance with the conditions of his release from custody. These measures were imposed in the interests of the Base community and are in addition to those imposed by the civilian court.

Police continue the investigation.

The ICE Team of the RCMP is addressing growing demand for child pornography investigations culminating from a dramatic increase in this crime via the internet. The ultimate objective of this team, in conjunction with the RCMP Tech Crime Unit, is to identify and assist child victims of sexual abuse, identify those responsible and to lay criminal charges for the assaults, creation of the images and their distribution.

Brandon Cadets show off their stuff on sea and land

Thirteen Sea Cadets from Prairie Region (including 60 Swiftsure in Brandon) travelled to Victoria for an intense sailing clinic on the Pacific Ocean, March 16 to 25.

In sailing, as in the world of real estate, one of the key ingredients to becoming successful is the proverbial 'location, location, location.' So what could be considered a more ideal location for 13 Sea Cadets from the prairies being sent to the west coast for an intense 10-day sailing clinic on the briny waters of the Pacific Ocean.

Soon after the Sea Cadets arrived they began advanced sail training, with some of the senior Sea Cadets receiving additional instruction on boat-handling skills, racing skills and tactics.

During their time on the water in both the International 420 and Laser class sailboats, the Cadets challenged themselves in both rough and calm conditions — all with a common goal of making themselves better sailors and competitors in future sailing regattas.

Steve McBride, Sailing Program Coordinator for the Royal Victoria Yacht Club and lead coach for the Sea Cadets was, himself, a sailing instructor for the Cadet Program. He knows all too well the commitment required by these Cadets to enhance and further develop their capabilities.

"(Sailing is an incredible opportunity to learn and practice the necessary skills in an environment that's near perfect which will be a huge benefit when they compete in the national regatta later this summer in Kingston, Ont," McBride says.

Sea Cadets in Australia

In January, the city of Brisbane, Australia underwent the worst flooding in its history.

Residents rolled up their sleeves and worked together to clean up the mess and restore order in the city and the surrounding area. Teams from Australia's Conservation Volunteers organization assisted in recovery, and repairing damage caused by water, mud and debris left behind by the receding flood waters. The Australian Navy Cadets organization contacted Conservation Volunteers at the end of March to offer the help of a small team of Navy Cadets to restore a site of their choice. The offer was accepted enthusiastically, and one fine Wednesday morning the Conservation Volunteers team was surprised to see 15 or so cadets from Canada, the United States, the United Kingdom, Singapore and Australia at their doorstep, all in working uniform and ready to roll up their sleeves.

Cadets had accomplished two weeks' worth of work. And, what was most remarkable in their eyes was that all this work had been done by young people between the ages of 16 and 18. They promised themselves that in future they would call on the Navy Cadets more often.

Cadets on this project were taking part in an international exchange sponsored by the Australian Navy Cadets from April 11 to 26 in Brisbane. At the end of exchange, Cadets returned for clean-up under the direction of Conservation Volunteers. Once again, the work was very well done and, apart from a few little fears, a good time was had by all.

Great Escapes

Old and new highlights Irish-themed Killarney

Once again the Shilo Stag is offering Great Escapes — a guide for those new to the Westman area. Over the coming weeks we will feature the attractions, events and people who make the surrounding area tick. We'll also highlight ideas that you can plan around in your own Great Escape.

By Bruce Peever
Shilo Stag

All things Irish is the theme around Killarney, and even if you're not of this cultural persuasion you will still find plenty to do in this quaint village to the south.

With a population of 3,500 and a commercial history dating back to railroad construction, Killarney calls itself today 'The Emerald Isle Oasis'. You'll understand why with Killarney's shamrock welcome sign, shamrocks on the street signs and a Blarney Stone located at Erin Park.

This weekend may be the opportune time to visit Killarney with the annual Killarney Fair on tap at the fairgrounds. Chuckwagon and chariot races along with live entertainment highlight Friday events, with a free breakfast, parade, horse shows and a whole lot more on the agenda for Saturday, June 25.

If farm history is more your thing, be sure to attend Prairie Pioneer Days on July 9 and 10. The Turtle Mountain Flywheel Club, organizers of the 35th annual exhibition, promises projects and displays of interest for all family members. It all takes place at the fairgrounds.

For those enjoying the thrill of live harness racing, the Little Irish Downs features two weekends of racing on July 30 to 31 and again on Aug. 6 to 7. Manitoba's top drivers will lay it on the line for $40,000 in prizes over the two weekends. Nine parimutuel races are on tap each day featuring the Manitoba Sires Stake. Action takes place at the Killarney Agriculture and Sports Grounds.

Take a trip back in time at the Shamrock Drive In. One of the last remaining drive ins anywhere in Canada, the Killarney drive in opens the Canada Day weekend and features the old speaker in the car window technology. New owner Joanne Struss says the drive in will be open weekends through September or October, depending on weather. Shamrock Drive In is located less than two kilometres south of Killarney on Hwy. 18.

Down-home fun at Base Commander's Lobsterfest

The Shilo MFRC hosted its Annual General Meeting on Tuesday, June 14. Departing board members Leanne Petrin, Dwayne Bos and Ex-Officio Major Neil Gregory were recognized for their service. New members Rene Bell and Sherry Jackson were welcomed to a new term. The meeting was attended by 63 people and a record number of community members came out to vote and show their support. Guests were treated to lunch from Home Fire Cafe and a photo presentation of participants from MFRC events from the past year. Steve Morrison from Brandon Salutes was on hand to bring greetings from the Brandon team and show their appreciation for the work of the MFRC.

Tiny Toes Day Camp

This summer program is fun and learning all rolled into one! Register your preschool kids ages 3 - 5 years (Must be toilet trained)

The themes and weeks are:

Week 1: Down to Earth July 5 - 8

Children will learn to plant and care for their very own garden. They will journal, research and harvest their own veggies.

Week 2: Fun Factor July 12 - 15

A week that has "The Amazing Race", "Survivor", "Fear Factor" all rolled into one – just for preschoolers!

Week 3: Wild Zoofari July 19 - 22

If your child is wild about animals, this will be the week for them. This week will take us out and about visiting and learning some real animals.

Week 4: Artful Antics July 26 - 29

Let's get crazy and creative all in one week! We will be molding, painting, sculpting.

What a great time to find your inner creative spirit.

Week 5: Futuristic Fun August 2 - 5

Come explore another world...What child doesn't enjoy space and the thought of living in the stars and planets?

Week 6: Nature's Wonders August 9 - 12

All the wonders of nature we have around us are so exciting. Sign your child up for this week and learn animal communication, sit spot, tracking; things that will resonate in them for years to come.

The cost for Tiny Toes Day Camp are:

$50 per week, per child

The timings for Tiny Toes Day Camp are:

10 a.m. - 3 p.m. Tuesday - Friday

Each week will also feature a field trip, watch our website for more details!

Annual CF photography contest returns

Attention shutterbugs. The DND Photography Contest is now on and celebrating its 43rd year. The contest is organized by the Canadian Forces Imaging Service and the Canadian Forces Personnel and Family Support Services.

Each year professional and amateur photographers are encouraged to submit photos celebrating the artistic and creative imagery which depicts the many aspects of life in the military community for a chance to win one of more than $20,000 in prizes (contest rules apply).

The contest is an artistic endeavour considered to be a recreational activity and is open to the Canadian Forces Defence community. For further clarification, please refer to contest rules.

Hints for success

- Shoot for the category. A subject that matches the intent of the category has more impact;
- The chance of winning a prize or receiving the Photographer of the Year award is improved by maximizing the number of categories entered; and,

- Participants can enter in any or all of the following subject categories: Military Life, Family Life, Environment, Animals, Portrait, Special Effects, Sports or Open.

The DND Photography Contest is held annually, and this year's entries can be submitted between July 1, 2011 and the closing date of October 1, 2011

For more information regarding contest dates, rules and regulations, please visit our website at www.dndphotocontest.ca or call 613-990-2305.
